HOW TO BUILD A LAWN

Very early spring or early fall are the best times to start a lawn.

Considerable fills or ditches should be settled thoroughly and the necessary grading done. Then all the soil should be stirred to a uniform depth of ten or more inches. Wherever possible the natural top soil should be used. The next step is to incorporate a good layer of well rotted manure with the top five inches of the soil. This top layer is the seed bed and should be pulverized carefully and the finishing touches put on the grading. Thorough preparation will pay off in a better stand of grass and in a lawn that is both beautiful and easy to care for.

Seed should be distributed evenly. One pound of good seed will sow 400 or more square feet. Mulch with one half inch of straw, or better, a light covering of fine manure free from weed seed. If manure is not used the seed should be raked in lightly.

After watering is started the ground should never be allowed to dry until grass is well started. A good sprayer that will cover evenly without washing is necessary to do a good job. Mowing should start when grass is two inches high.

Of course good seed will be necessary for success.

LAWN GRASS SEED

Owing to a severe shortage of Kentucky Blue Grass and other lawn grass seeds, we have been compelled to change our mixture this year. We are still using only grasses that will give good results. This mixture contains sufficient White Clover. One pound $1.65; 5 lbs. or more at $1.63. Add postage at parcel post rates. Price subject to change without notice.
